

SEE PAUL IN ACTION

Paul Skewes - Leadership Speaker

Paul helps teams get honest, leaders get real, and workplaces get better. Paul works with organisations facing team disengagement, who need practical tools and honest conversations to build safe, healthy, high-performing teams. With sharp storytelling, behavioural science and battle-tested tools, Paul challenges audiences to take ownership, shift culture, and be human.

It's Ours To Fix

Paul's signature keynote will help audiences:

- Understand the 3 questions that can transform any team – starting today
- Use the principles of the team's E.A.R.'s to create psychologically safe spaces
- Unlock the power of shared responsibility
- Create deep impact through small, deliberate shifts
- Know how to read disengagement before it turns into dysfunction.
- Discover what creates a safe team – and it's not a scavenger hunt
- Accept that we can all lead, regardless of position

"Thank you for energising the room, Paul. You created a safe, vibrant and dynamic environment"
Lea - Project Manager

What They Say

Paul doesn't just deliver a keynote – he challenges leadership clichés and leaves audiences with tools that work. Brilliant, applicable, and unforgettable, his smart delivery resonated across every leadership level. He handled curveballs with ease and left the room buzzing. Top notch

Why Book Paul

Paul breaks the leadership speaker mould – and that's exactly why audiences remember him. With a career spanning military operations, corporate transformation, and leadership coaching, Paul brings real-world experience and a refreshing human honesty to the stage. His sessions don't traffic in theory; they're built on:

- hard-won insights
- behavioural science
- practical tools that teams can use the very next day
- a passion for improvised theatre

Whether he's unpacking Everest-level trust, the psychology of decision-making, or the myth of 'perfect leadership,' Paul holds a room – from frontline staff to senior execs – with sharp storytelling, surprising humour, and unfiltered truth.

Audiences consistently describe his keynotes as brilliant, challenging, and deeply applicable. He delivers more than content; he creates momentum. Paul helps teams get honest, leaders get real, and workplaces get better – without another textbook, scavenger hunt, or sugar-coated slogan insight.
